WASP ARRIVES FOR NAVY DAY

Visiting Hours Start Tomorrow

STORY ON PAGE 3

'Stinger' Ties Up

Hanging over guard lines and shouting "Hello" to the throng on hand to see them dock today at Commonwealth Pier, bluejackets and marines aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp, affectionately known in Navy parlance as "Old Stinger," get their first impression of a typical Hub welcome. With pennants streaming, the Quincy-built, battle-scarred carrier, veteran of much Pacific fighting, arrived today to take part in the city's Navy Day celebrations. The great ship was backed into the pier while relatives and friends of men on board stood outside and cheered.

Hunt 6 Sea Crash Victims

Coast Guard vessels and a Navy plane today began an intensive search of the deep waters off Georges Bank for six Greater Boston fishermen missing since early yesterday when their ship, the trawler Medford, was rammed and sunk by the European-bound troopship Thomas H. Barry in a heavy fog 122 miles east of the Nantucket lightship.

Ten members of the Medford crew were rescued, one was killed, and the six missing are feared drowned.

The transport, which was headed for France with 3230 Army, Red Cross and civilian passengers, was badly damaged in the collision and turned back for New York after picking up the 10 survivors.

The New York Port of Embarkation, after hearing from Capt. Frank A. Erickson, said the Barry was expected to dock at Pier 15, Staten Island, at 9 o'clock tonight and that an Army hearing into the collision would begin immediately at the pier.

There were no casualties aboard the troopship.

The captain of the Medford,

Richard Brenton Lee Munroe

Gudmundur Johannsson, 40, of Lawrence rd., Medford, was among those rescued.

One of the missing crew members, John Meuse, of Liberty st., Lynn, has a wife and five children. Another, Richard Brenton, 50, of Everett st., Jamaica Plain, is father of 12.

Identification of the dead, missing and survivors was obtained by radio from the Barry and announced by Brig. Gen. C. H. Kells of the New York Port of Embarkation. The list:

French Vote Big Margin To DeGaulle

PARIS, Oct. 22 (AP)—France's first general election in nine years placed an almost unqualified stamp of approval today on Gen. De Gaulle's plans to found a fourth republic on a new constitution drafted by the people's chosen representatives.

Figures announced by the ministry of the interior this morning, 12 hours after the closing of the polls, showed that DeGaulle had won an overwhelming victory in a two-pronged election which decided that:

1—A constituent assembly—designated at yesterday's election—will draft a new constitution rather than attempt to rebuild the government on the 1875 document which was the foundation of the Third Republic.

2—The executive power will be vested in a provisional government during the seven months the assembly sits rather than in the assembly itself.

Unofficial computations based on virtually complete figures from metropolitan France showed this lineup in the assembly for the major parties:

Socialist Coalition 143 seats, Communist 143, MRP 140, Moderate Rightists 26 and Socialists 19.

Less than 20 per cent of the remaining Assembly seats were distributed among minor parties. The Assembly will have 522 members from France and 64 from the colonies.

Sick GI Flown Here From Ship

An unidentified soldier, suffering from a throat ailment, today was removed from the Army transport Thaddeus Kosciuszko 150 miles from Boston and flown in a Coast Guard air-sea rescue plane to a mainland hospital.

The transfer was made in response to radio appeals from the Kosciuszko to the Coast Guard base at Salem.

Lt. Com. Stanley Stanulis, Public Health Service physician, made the plane trip from Salem.

The Kosciuszko, with 579 troops returning from Europe, is due in Boston tomorrow.

Sheriff Puts on Real Show

MODESTO, Cal., Oct. 22 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Charles Abernathy started out to investigate a disturbance recently ended by creating a bigger one.

The deputy's report: "While I was standing in the kitchen questioning five women at the residence, a mouse ran up my pants leg. The first time I leaped in the air, my nightstick came out and hung on the door knob.

"The next time my gun and belt flew off and landed in the middle of the dining room table.

"The third time I went up in the air my pants landed in the middle of the kitchen floor and I had the mouse well in hand.

"The women liked the show so well they asked me to make a return engagement."

Denial of Stalin Illness Eases World Tension

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (INS)—Reassurance given by the Soviet embassy in London that Premier Stalin is in good health today set at rest a week-end of diplomatic speculation of Balkan reports that he was near death.

It ended a period of speculation which has continued underground ever since the Potsdam conference.

The spark of speculation had been fanned by the seemingly enigmatic attitude of Russia on some international matters recently.

Announcement that Stalin is enjoying a long delayed rest in South Russia, it was pointed out, might also explain delays encountered in getting Soviet approval of certain international moves. This would be particularly true if he were in a remote spot where communication with Moscow is slow.

The official announcement in London said: "The truth is that Stalin has been under a great strain for the last two years. His doctors advised him to take a prolonged rest in the country and he is now vacationing in Southern Russia in the company of his daughter Svetlana."

Butter at 8 Points Seen by Oct. 28

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (INS)—Owen M. Richards, manager of the American Dairy Ass'n, today predicted a reduction in butter ration points from 12 to eight by Oct. 28 and an end of butter rationing Nov. 8.

Richards said rationing of butter would cease with the ending of the government's subsidy.

Charges Annapolis Unfair to Negro

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Rep. Powell (D.) of New York has complained to Navy Sec. Forrestal his 1945 Negro nominee to the Naval Academy "is not receiving fair and equal treatment."

Forrestal advised the Negro Congressman he would ask the academy superintendent for a complete report.

Volunteers Can Join Navy 2, 3, 4, 6 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Volunteers for the regular Navy now have the option of signing up for 2, 3, 4 or 6 years. The regular Navy term of service heretofore has been four years.

Announcing this today, the Navy added the new options: also apply to re-enlistments.

Americans Trapped In Caracas Revolt

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22 (AP)—While gunfire spilled blood in Caracas, looters ransacked the city, steel fragments caromed through doors and windows, and Americans caught in the bloody revolutionary coup crouched in barricaded hotel rooms through three days and nights of terror.

That was the picture brought back by refugees from the Venezuelan revolt, first to arrive in this country since violence flared Thursday.

"The hoodlums and looters who broke loose Friday were the worst," said Miss Mary Francis, Oklahoma City lawyer, who, with about 100 other Americans, "sweated out" the revolution at the Avila Hotel.

"I saw boys 15 and 16 carrying carbines—and they were a trigger-happy bunch," she related.

Miss Francis said the Caracas police force, which remained loyal to the government, apparently had been wiped out.

"Some capitulated finally and came out with their hands up—but they were shot down anyway," she said.

Bombing was too accurate at Maracay, airport center just outside Caracas, for Mrs. Madge Davis of Saluda, S. C., who admitted she "cried through the whole thing in a hotel room along with two weeping American mothers and their crying babies."

"A bomb or grenade dropped from a plane hit the floor above us and exploded," she said.

"We spent two days flat on the floor. We had a few pieces of stale bread for food."

Mrs. Davis said at least 20 persons were killed around the hotel garage.

Democratic Cabinet Takes Over in Venezuela

CARACAS, Oct. 22 (AP)—A cabinet pledged to democratic ideals took over the reins in oil-rich Venezuela today under sponsorship of a revolutionary junta which stamped out all important resistance to its coup d'etat in a tumultuous week-end of armed conflict.

Bespokeed Romulo Betancourt, 57, a former newspaper columnist, assumed the dual role of president and minister of the interior with a pledge his government had assumed power only to provide Venezuela with "free, direct, universal suffrage by secret ballot."

Betancourt promised Venezuela would take an energetic part in preserving hemispheric unity.

HEAVY CRUISER FALL RIVER, SIGHTED OFF PROVINCETOWN, CHURNS UP A WAKE AS IT SPEEDS TO HUB FOR NAVY DAY FETE.

Carrier Wasp Here For Navy Day Fete

The "Old Stinger," the Navy's affectionate term for the battle-scarred aircraft carrier Wasp, arrived in Boston today with pennants streaming and her flight deck lined with dancing and cheering sailors.

The Quincy-built flat-top, survivor of Jap kamikaze raids and Pacific typhoons, was shorn of most of her sting when she docked at Commonwealth Pier for her armada of fighting and torpedo planes had soared from her deck yesterday to stage the most impressive display of naval air power in Boston history.

The thunderous aerial show climaxed the city's observance in memory of the Navy's dead with the 100 fighting ships circling the Greater Boston area after a 150-mile flight from the Wasp before they glided to landings at Squantum—the end of war's trail for the gallant pilots and crewmen.

The Wasp, which was followed into port by the cruiser Fall River, joins other fleet units, in port and still due, which will take part in a week-long celebration climaxed by Saturday's observance throughout the nation of Navy Day.

Two welcoming vessels, the U. S. S. Earhart, and the U. S. S. Mayflower, former presidential yacht, sailed down the harbor to greet the Wasp and escort her into port.

She was just a blurred smudge on the horizon when she first was sighted in the haze of the outer harbor but gradually the outlines of her flight deck and the "island" amidships became visible. Soon the crew, in dress blues, could be seen lining the flight deck and they broke into cheers when they saw a huge banner, "Welcome Stinger" on the side of the Mayflower.

The sight of a complement of trim WAVES, in charge of Capt. Powell Rhea of Boston Navy Yard, a Silver Star winner, brought renewed cheers and a hurried flashing of signal flags.

Bands aboard the two welcoming ships burst into the latest song hits and carried on a battle of music all the way up the harbor, with the sailors aboard the Wasp jitterbugging on the huge flight deck.

As the group headed up the harbor, a squadron of planes which had landed yesterday flew over the carrier trailing a huge banner which read, "Welcome Home, Joe," in tribute to the executive officer, Lt. Com. Joseph Clifton, former Navy football star.

Later the planes, piloted by members of the Fourth Air Group, flew in formation spelling out "JOE 4" in a further welcome to their uppopular officer.

Arriving at the inner harbor, the Wasp, aided by tugs, turned

New Warship Visiting Hours

Navy authorities announced today additional visiting hours had been arranged for the public aboard the carrier Wasp, the cruiser Fall River and all other Naval vessels docking this week at public piers.

Both the Wasp and the Fall River will be open to the public from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. tomorrow and daily through next Tuesday as well as from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. Saturday and Sunday. The same will apply to other vessels at public piers, beginning this afternoon after their arrival.

Visiting hours for vessels at the Army base remain as scheduled, 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. from Friday through Oct. 30, plus the 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. hours on Saturday and Sunday.

Willis Files Bill For Hub Plan E

Speaker Frederic B. Willis today filed in the House a bill which would permit citizens of Boston to vote at the 1946 state election on whether they want a Plan E form of government.

The system would be almost identical with that of Cambridge. A city manager, would practically run the city, would be chosen by vote of the city council.

Willis said: "I am satisfied that the council-manager form of government is the simple, modern and efficient way of handling a city's affairs."

"It provides good service with a minimum of waste, dishonesty, favoritism and other faults that plague politics and weaken people's faith in democracy."

"I am filing the bill now. Instead of after the election, so that no one can say it is directed at any particular individual who may be elected next Nov. 6."

$5000 Weekly Beebe Sanity Bill Includes Music, Baseball

Baseball games and an occasional concert by an orchestra account for part of the $5000 weekly bill in the medical fight to "extrovert" Charles Philip Beebe, Harvard graduate and heir to wool millions, it was disclosed in Suffolk Probate Court today in a continued hearing over appointment of a new guardian.

Dr. Kenneth Tiltonson of McLean Hospital said Beebe has been under treatment for insanity since 1919 and that he formerly was at the hospital until it was found he did better in a place of his own.

The psychiatrist told Judge John V. Mahoney the patient now lives in a 12-room mansion on an 800-acre estate in Framingham and that many doctors, nurses and attendants are necessary for his care.

Under questioning by Judge Mahoney, the doctor added that the patient suffers from delusions of persecution and that his condition improves noticeably when an orchestra is hired to play for him or when he sees a ball game.

Serving as one of his guardians now is E. Sohler Welch, who asks appointment of Atty. Thomas M. Reynolds to succeed the late Sylvester Brown.

A cousin, Mrs. Esther Fiske Hammond of Santa Barbara, Cal., and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Francis Lathrop Helm of Monmouth st., Brookline, ask appointment of Atty. George P. Davis of Waltham. The case is continuing.

Also in court was Mrs. Esther Catlin of Prescott st., Brookline, another daughter of Mrs. Hammond.

Pope's Call to Women Hailed Throughout U. S.

Acclaim and support of Pope Pius' call on Catholic women to take an active part in political life came today from prominent Catholic lay leaders in all sections of the United States. The Pope's crusade urging women to "combat currents menacing the principles on which the church, family and home are based" was heralded almost universally as one of the most significant moves in years toward establishment of permanent world peace.

The Pope's pronouncement that women have "the strict obligation in conscience" to go into public life, especially to the extent of exercising the ballot, was heralded by members of the Catholic hierarchy in America as the most important utterance on women issued during the present pontificate.

The papal plea, timed with elections pending in several countries and with Italian women about to vote for the first time, was made in an address the Pontiff made to an audience of 1000 women, which was broadcast by the Vatican radio. Warning that "many political movements are turning to women to win her for their cause," the Pope declared:

"Some totalitarian systems dangle marvelous promises before her eyes of equality of rights with men, care during pregnancy and childbirth, public kitchens and other communal services to free her from some of her household cares, public kindergartens and other institutions maintained and administered by the government which relieve her of her maternal obligations toward her own children, free schools and sick benefits."

"It is not meant to deny the advantages that accrue from one and the other of these social services if properly administered."

At the same time, the Pope questioned whether a woman can "hope for her real well-being from a regime dominated by capitalism."

"We do not need to describe to you now the economic and social results that issue from it," he said. "You know its characteristic signs and you yourselves are hearing the burdens. Excessive concentration of population in cities, the constant all-absorbing increase of big industries, the difficult and precarious state of others, notably those of artisan and agricultural workers, and the disturbing increase of unemployment."

The Pope declared that everything really good in mankind benefits by the results of an orderly family life.

The Pontiff acknowledged that there were women who were detained by unavoidable circumstances to forsake marriage for a life of solitude.

Until now, he said, some of those have devoted themselves to church work and moral and social activity of great distinction. And, he added, their numbers have been considerably increased by the war and its calamities.

"Many brave men have fallen in the dreadful war," he declared. "Others have returned as invalids. Many young women will therefore wait in vain for the return of a husband and the flowering of new lives."

Such women, he asserted, today have a militant calling for their energies.

"New needs created by the entry of women into civil and political life have arisen to claim their assistance," the Pope said.

Italian Women Hail Pope's Vote Plea

ROME, Oct. 22 (INS).—Thousands of Italian women, looking forward to their first vote in a national election, today gave solemn heed to the Papal message which called upon them for political and social activity.

Unused to being considered vital to the running of their country, scores of signoras and signorinas of voting age read the message in which Pope Pius challenged that women now have "the strict obligation in conscience" to go into public life at least to the extent of voting.

2-Way Bride Traffic Gls' Aussies Arrive, Others Go Back

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22 (AP).—Tears, smiles and wails of babies intermingled today when the transport Florida docked with a group of foreign war brides and fiancées.

Crowding the rails were 120 wives and 40 children and 37 fiancées of American soldiers, sailors and marines, who had been stationed in Australia and New Zealand.

On the dock, were the fiancées and husbands. Some mothers had their babies strapped to their sides in white canvas bags. One New Zealand mother explained, "they're cuddle chairs."

Perhaps the most excited man on the dock was slim young Marine Capt. Michael Wojcik, who is stationed at Quantico, Va.

"We're to get married this evening as soon as we can get the license," he said, pointing to pretty Patricia O'Connor of Wellington, N. Z., whom he met in Wellington in November, 1942.

BRISBANE, Australia, Oct. 22 (AP).—More than 50 Australian brides of American servicemen returned from the United States aboard the Matsonia today, some saying they were simply homesick and others disappointed because the country was "not like the movies and magazine advertisements."

Among the women were some widows and divorcees and others who said they were "just fed up." "I felt like an outcast," said Mrs. Betty Schultz of Sydney. "The American women resented us and were always saying we pinched (stole) their men."

"America is likable but the people are dreadful," exclaimed another. Mrs. Margaret MacDonnell of Sydney. "Everyone rushes around like lightning and after the quiet life in Australia, America is absolute bedlam."

Mrs. Joan Balboni of Sydney said, "Everything in America is fast and everyone is selfish. A decent meal costs more there than a new summer frock here. The pace of living and playing gets on Aussie nerves."

Doomed Pigeons Spurn Trap

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP).—The birds were just too smart for their would-be captors today as the pigeon-trapping season opened in the Quaker City.

A trap, well-baited with 10 pounds of cracked corn, was set in City Hall Plaza at 6:15 a. m. Three hours later not a single bird had entered the cage.

The pigeons, found to be disease-infected and condemned to execution, accepted the handouts, waddling to the point where the trap was about to be sprung.

Then they wheeled about and strutted off to points of vantage from where they cocked wise eyes at the trap and its chagrined guardians.

Man Held in Shooting; Boys, Girl in Crime Toils

A Roxbury man was arraigned today and held in $20,100 on several charges in connection with the shooting of George A. Vincent, 37, Back Bay music teacher. At the same time, police prepared action against four boys, the youngest 10, in the drive to curb lawlessness.

Raymond C. Scott, 21, of Columbus ave., was charged in Roxbury court with assault and battery with intent to rob Vincent, conspiracy to steal and unlawfully carrying a revolver.

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles granted a continuance to Nov. 2. Another suspect is sought.

The 10-year-old boy was discovered in a closet of the apartment of Miss Mabel Darrell, Guild st., Roxbury, after she returned home to find the place ransacked. She held him while neighbors called police.

An attempt by a 16-year-old Roxbury girl to snatch four handbags through an open window led to her arraignment in juvenile court. She pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to Oct. 25.

Miss Selma Holkoos of Greenville st., Roxbury, said she saw a hand reach in the window of her apartment and grab bags belonging to her guests. She chased the girl and recovered the loot.

Three Brighton boys, aged 11 to 14, were arrested after the manager of the Brighton Tap had reported theft of a woman's pocketbook, containing $19 and ration books, from the counter.

Latest attempted handbag snatching was in Cambridge, where Miss Mary Keagan, 26, of Irving st., battled a tall Negro who waylaid her near her home and frustrated his efforts to seize her purse.

Miss Jean Gould of Walnut ave., Roxbury, reported the theft of her handbag, containing $20, by two Negro boys.

Thief from Emmanuel Church of $53.90 in cash, a portable typewriter and table radio, was reported to police by the sexton, Cecil Montgomery.

Myron Broad of Bilodeau rd., Roxbury, told police he had just parked his car on Yoncan st. when a Negro approached, holding one hand in his coat pocket in a threatening manner, and forced him to hand over a wallet containing $11.

Hearing a crash of breaking glass, Sgts. Timothy Collins and Charles Berkebile of the Warren ave. station raced to the jewelry store of Alexander Deigle at 538 Tremont st., South End, where they found a window had been broken. They arrested a 30-year-old South End man who was "easing the scene. Nothing was taken."

LANNY ROSS DISCHARGED—FT. DIX, N. J., Oct. 22 (AP).—Maj. Lanny Ross, former radio, stage and screen tenor, was discharged at the Ft. Dix Separation Center.

IN CIVIES—Mam 2c Bette McNally, wife of MS 1c Thomas F. McNally, USN, of Lawrence, has been discharged from the WAVES after 25 months' service. Her husband is on duty in the Pacific. She is the daughter of Mrs. William D. Mowry, of Jamaica, N. Y.

Happy Boy, 3, Finds Lost Dog

Billy O'Brien, 3, of Commonwealth ave., Newton, had a belated but happy birthday celebration today, for Coke, his 3-month-old cocker puppy, is home.

Billy was 3 years old Saturday, but it didn't mean much. Coke, presented him by his dad, William H. O'Brien, a Boston attorney, wandered away, and Billy couldn't be consoled.

Mrs. O'Brien asked a little help from the Boston American, and the resulting story really got action. Not only did Coke come home, but Billy got offers of dogs ranging in size from a great Dane to a cocker. The telephone never stopped ringing, according to Mrs. O'Brien who today telephoned her thanks.

She said boys had picked Coke up on the Commonwealth Country Club and took him to Brighton, where they presented him to Thomas J. Joyce, 21 Dickinson rd., Brighton, who two little youngsters only recently lost a dog just like Coke.

Now, Mr. Joyce reads the Boston American, too, and he loves children, so he brought Coke back—a bit reluctantly, he admitted.

Frat Fire Brings Girl Guest Quiz

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 22 (INS).—A fraternity house fire in which two Rutgers students and a 19-year-old girl overnight guest died and six others, including a second young woman, were injured was under exhaustive investigation today.

Rutgers President Robert C. Clothier said the survivors would be questioned after Reed Silvers, dean of men, placed Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity on indefinite social probation for violation of a rule prohibiting unchaperoned entertaining of girls in campus fraternity houses.

Killed by suffocation in the two-hour fire which all but destroyed the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity house were Raymond Berger, 19, of Jersey City, a sophomore in the school of engineering; Benjamin Gordon, 20, of Trenton, N. J., and Miss Joyce Patricia Kaltzman, 19, of Teaneck, N. J.

Another girl guest who was injured was Miss Corinne Reeve, 19, of Ridgefield, N. J.

MARINE HERO GREET'S CURLEY—Home from the Pacific where he served for five years, winning the Navy Cross and Purple Heart, Robert Fuller, paratrooper of the First Marine Division, from South Boston, greets Rep. James M. Curley at a Hotel Bradford rally.

Curley Challenges Foes; Race Warms

Cong. James M. Curley challenged his five opponents in Boston mayoralty contest today to name a single accomplishment in their municipal service compared with civic developments attained during his own three terms as mayor.

After a week-long period of mourning the death of his oldest son, Paul, the Congressman renewed an aggressive campaign on his comprehensive program to "Build Boston" and pointed proudly to his list of achievements in improving the city in previous administrations in City Hall.

"I have five opponents," Curley said, "and each of them has had some part in the management of Boston's municipal government in the past 12 years."

"What single accomplishment can any one of my opponents point to which has been of benefit to the city during that period?"

Curley indicated he plans to base his campaign during the two weeks preceding the election, Nov. 6, on his own record of accomplishment, compared to what he calls the inactivity of his opponents, as well as on his program for rebuilding Boston and forcing tax reductions.

Curley called attention to his leadership in the move asking the War Department to transfer its $32,000,000 port of embarkation facilities at Castle Island to the city at an annual rental fee of $1.

"I am decidedly optimistic about the success of this plan," he said. "What the acquisition of these facilities, capable of docking many cargo ships simultaneously, will mean to the development of the port of Boston cannot be exaggerated."

"Restoration of Boston to a real seaport city will have a direct bearing on the tax rate."

"I have invited the men and women of Boston to devote a little thought to the fact when I left the mayor's office in 1933, the tax rate was $32.80. This year's rate is $42.50. It is a fair question to ask what worthwhile municipal improvement of a permanent character has been made in the past 12 years."

Curley has scheduled rallies for tonight at Brighton High School after a radio address at 7:15, and for tomorrow evening at the Timothy School in Roxbury.

Former Fire Commr. William A. Reilly stressed the need for capable leadership in the next four years so Boston could straighten out its local problems in order to meet stiff postwar competition from other cities. Reilly will be on the radio at 8:30 tonight.

Mayor John E. Kerrigan continued to emphasize the need for building up the city's recreational facilities to aid in juvenile development. He said he hoped for the early use of public buildings as youth centers, staffed by competent advisers. Kerrigan makes a radio address at 6:30 tonight.

Former School Committee member Joseph Lee told West End mothers good recreational facilities helped prevent crime, but were not the basic answer to the problem of juvenile delinquency. A better solution, he said, would be restoration of thrift and hard work in city government.

N. E.-N. Y. Non-Stop Flights Approved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today authorized Northeast Airlines to consolidate Routes 27, 65 and 70 to provide non-stop service between points north of Boston and New York.

The board's decision permits Northeast to operate from Portland, Bangor and Augusta, Me., and points on its route north of Boston, direct to New York without stopping at Boston on all flights. It also gives Hyannis, Mass., and other points on the route direct service to New York, bypassing Boston. A substantial movement of traffic between New York and points north of Boston will be benefited by direct service, the board said.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—An Enoch Arden story, so often told in fiction and so frequently come true during this war, was re-enacted here in Hollywood when Actress Marjorie Weaver's first husband, Navy Lt. Kenneth G. Schacht walked in the door of her home.

Schacht, a graduate of Annapolis, was officially reported missing by the Navy Department April 10, 1942, but actually, since March 1942 he has been a prisoner in a Japanese war camp.

Throughout those long years of confinement, he dreamed constantly of returning here to Marjorie, but he never believed escape was possible.

Marjorie is now the wife of Lt. Donald J. Briggs. They were married a year and a half after Schacht was reported missing.

However, Marjorie had obtained a divorce from her first husband prior to his capture by the Japs, but because of his mother, she kept it quiet. She and Briggs expect a baby in January.

In telling me the story Marjorie said:

"Ken and I were married Oct. 22, 1937, and even before the war we were together very little. He was in the Navy and had to be away from home a great deal. I thought, of course, he was dead."

"Fortunately, Don was home when Ken walked in the door on Friday. The two sat down to talk things over, and they liked each other immediately. I must say Ken acted like a gentleman. He understood perfectly and agreed to walk right out of our lives."

En route to Hollywood, Ken said he had planned to woo her all over again, but when he met Lt. Briggs he bowed out and gave them his blessings after he learned of the divorce. Marjorie's re-marriage and the fact she was deeply in love with Briggs.

CINDERELLA CUTE-Y

We don't know if she was a celebrity—some G. L. Jay's pin-up or some business tycoon's secretary—but there she was in the crowd, the other morning, and did she capture a bargain price! One of those modern Cinderellas, more than clever in the ways of fashion and not a little bit cute in stretching a dollar to its utmost. With the savoir-faire of a connoisseur, right out from under the eyes and reach of a number of other bargain-clothes she picked a $27.98 specialty shop dress with a Filene's Basement price tag of $2.99. Fantastic—even the legendary Aesop never produced a fable like this—but there it was, price tags as fact, and notable label for further proof of a bargain, so wondrous it seemed almost unbelievable. Why, Where and How-come this good looking dress was obtainable on the bargain rack for a difference in price of more than $20? ... It was a lovely summertime tissue sheer yellow cotton dress, but of course the summer was over and the smart specialty shop had closed out its surplus to make room for a new winter stock. Filene's Basement being a keen bargain operator, carries no old stuff either from one year to another, not a single piece of merchandise stays here after the 30th selling day, and when you are faced with a 25% reduction at the end of 12 selling days, you make certain in the first place, you price merchandise right—hence at $2.99 this dress, though out of season was a fool-proof bargain and when Cinderella swept it off the rack, she was the envy of the others who didn't get it first ... Maybe she'll be going on a Southern Cruise—maybe she'll tuck it away for next summer (many prudent folks take advantage of out of season buys in this unique store), maybe it's going in her trousseau, but when the other customers recognized the famous label they all but swooned. Another illuminating example of why Filene's Basement is famous for its bargains, its crowds and its lucrative values that make it The Only Store Of Its Kind In The World.

White House Won't Confirm Truman Hitler Hunt Order

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP)—
Dr. Robert M. W. Kempner, German-born anti-Nazi who came to the U. S. in 1939, is hunting for Adolf Hitler—dead or alive—in Germany on direct orders from the White House, the Philadelphia Record says.
Kempner, once legal counsel of the Prussian state police which Hitler molded into the Gestapo, is "one of the few anti-Nazis in the world who possesses detailed knowledge of Hitler's physical appearance, even his skeleton structure," the Record says.
"He could point his finger at a Hitler disguised by plastic surgery, or at a cadaver that had been cremated, and say with certainty, 'That is the Fuehrer,'" the newspaper asserts.

Kempner, according to the Record, left Philadelphia four weeks ago and was flown secretly to Nuremberg, Germany on orders
"given directly by the White House." The paper adds:
"Both the White House and the War Department refuse to indicate the nature of Kempner's mission or to say whether he has submitted any reports. But a White House spokesman confirmed the fact Kempner flew to Europe on a 'White House priority.'"

Kempner is said to believe Hitler still lives. He disbelieves Kempka's story (Erich Kempka, Hitler's chauffeur, said the Fuehrer was burned to death) "and has labeled it 'ambiguous.'"

(In Washington today, Eben Ayers, Assistant Press Secretary, told a news conference the White House knew nothing of a report that Dr. Kempner is in Germany
"hunting for Hitler alive or for Hitler's body if he is dead.")

3d Fleet Vets Hit 'Cattle Train'

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22 (INS)—Five hundred veterans of the Third Fleet were enroute to East coast homes today, after protesting what they termed being shipped around "like cattle in a dirty train without proper sanitation."

The veterans, who left San Francisco on furloughs ranging from 15 to 30 days, charged in wires to Chicago newspapers: The train lacked proper sanitation facilities.

Sidetracked repeatedly all the way from the West Coast. Because of the delay, many of the veterans will have only two or three days left to spend at home.

The protest said in part: "Many furloughs will be cut to only three or four days with families and friends whom we have

Sen. Walsh Joins in Fight To Keep Enterprise Afloat

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—A bill to rescue the heroic aircraft carrier Enterprise from the limbo of ships—the scrap heap—is now being prepared, Sen. David I. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, disclosed today.

Pledging his support to the campaign launched by the New York Journal-American and other Hearst newspapers to save the gallant ship from an ignominious end, Sen. Walsh revealed his bill will urge that the Big E take her place alongside the Constitution, Constellation and the Hartford, all national monuments of past American naval glory.

"This is a splendid idea of the New York Journal-American and the other Hearst newspapers," Sen. Walsh said. "The Enterprise should stand as a mighty symbol of this war. She should not be destroyed but left a monument of all we fought and died for. Her place in American history should equal that of the Constitution." Joining in the fight to save the Navy's fightingest carrier was Rep. Carl Vinson, chairman of the House naval affairs committee, who wired:

"I am heartily in favor of your campaign to keep the USS Enterprise as a symbol of American unconquerable spirit. You can count on my full support to accomplish this objective."

Rep. Vinson's wire came on the heels of a statement sent to the New York Journal-American by Secretary of Navy Forrestal in which he said:

Hub Television Stations for '46

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Federal Communications Commission experts forecast today a "fairly good number" of television stations would go on the air during 1946. Within four weeks, FCC hopes to announce rules and regulations.

The next step will be to process the 140 pending television applications, then station construction can get under way.

Under study by FCC engineers is a proposal by the Television Broadcasters' Ass'n. Inc. to provide 401 more television channels.

This would mean New York, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis and Columbus, O., could each accommodate two more stations than in the commission's original plan. Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, St. Louis, Washington, D. C., Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Portland, Ore., Dallas and Louisville could each accommodate at least one more.

Filene's

Aisle of Beauty

THANK YOU MRS. WELLS

For Such an Exciting Recommendation!

Mrs. Wells tells us she couldn't wear a size 20 dress this summer. Today we took her picture in a size 14.

Haverhill, N. H.
October 16, 1945

Wm. Filene's Son, Co.
Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen:

Your full page advertisement featuring the Success course in Sunday's paper was a welcome item, as I had been wondering where I could replenish my fast decreasing supply of their products.

On Thursday of this week, I shall call at your store for this purpose, but primarily because I simply wish to gloat a bit about myself. I have now completed the first three weeks of this famous course, to which I subscribed by mail from New York, and I am indeed a pretty grand advertisement if I do say so...modestly. Having diminished my weight from the very shady side of 150 pounds to down below 129 to date, with measurement keeping pace with this reduction, I am at present a most enthusiastic Course member.

And because on this hurried shopping trip I had planned to go to your store where for many years I have had my charge account, I wish to stop by in person and tell you how much the course has done for me.

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) Arlene S. Wells, Postmaster.

...And today Mrs. Wells came in from New Hampshire to see us and tell us, in person, her thrilling news...

In the FIRST THREE WEEKS of the DuBARRY SUCCESS COURSE, Mrs. Wells has: Reduced her weight from 150 to 128 lbs.
Brought her measurements down from:

Bust	39" to 35"	Waist	33" to 27 1/2"
Hips	42" to 37"	Thigh	23" to 19 1/2"

and she's only HALF WAY through the Course

YOU CAN DO IT TOO: Come in to Filene's Aisle of Beauty and consult with our DuBarry representative on your figure problems. She'll tell you all about the success course, and how it will remold your figure for new fashions.

Big Auto Plants Spending Millions on Low-Cost Cars

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Business Editor
DETROIT, Oct. 22—Detroit motor car manufacturers are engaged in a hot race for the low-priced car market, with General Motors alone setting aside $50,000,000 for research and engineering.

This fact came from Charles F. Kettering, director of research for General Motors. He would not go into details as to how the money would be spent, but it appeared obvious it would include actual making of machine tools for a car priced under either Ford or Chevrolet.

On the surface, manufacturers have been concentrating on producing as many improved 1942-type cars as quickly as they can, but with most of them scheduled to sell above 1942 prices, the idea of a lighter, cut-rate car is getting plenty of attention.

The Ford Co., which got a break in wartime contract cancellations and was first in actual production, has kept plans secret, but is known to be spending millions on research.

The Henry Kaiser-Joseph Frazier to build a car to undersell old-line manufacturers has apparently been a factor in the situation.

A. E. Barit, president of the Hudson Co., was one of the few who would be quoted. He said:

"We have all got to be prepared to meet new trends or demands. Hudson has a low-priced car in the blueprint stage."

John Walsh Funeral Set for Wednesday

The funeral of John W. Walsh, 45, of Bright rd., Belmont, nephew and law partner of Sen. David I. Walsh, will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m., with requiem mass in St. Joseph's Church, Belmont. He died suddenly at the wheel of his car in Memorial dr., Cambridge. His wife, Phyllis, stopped the car.

He also leaves a son, Richard, 5; his mother, Mrs. Alice T. Walsh, a brother, William J., and a sister, a religious, Sister Davida.

Soldier Beware

BOULDER, Col., Oct. 22 (AP) — Returning servicemen were warned about the postwar strength of the weaker sex by Miss Margaret Poley, assistant professor of physical education at the University of Colorado.

A rigorous wartime conditioning program has given the co-ed a marked muscular advantage over her prewar counterpart, with shoulder strength increased 40 per cent, abdominal strength

70 per cent, agility 20 per cent and endurance 100 per cent, Miss Poley asserted.

700 Try to Pray At White House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (INS)—Elder Solomon Lightfoot Michaux and 700 followers were bent on offering prayers for President Truman today, but Washington police intervened.

The negro evangelist and his congregation, marching two abreast, were intercepted by police as they headed for the White House at 4:30 A. M.

The Elder explained every three months throughout the war he had led his followers in dusk-to-dawn prayers. Today's prayer offering, he said, was for the President and other officials of state.

The Elder and his followers finally offered the prayers in their church, 30 blocks from the White House.

Paramount Pickets Battle Non-Strikers

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22 (INS)—Violent battling between pickets and non-strikers at Paramount studios today opened another week in Hollywood's prolonged jurisdictional film strike.

Mass picketing moved to Paramount and RKO as movie czar Eric Johnston and union executives prepared to leave for Cincinnati to seek a settlement before the executive council of the A. F. of L.

Halifax Admits Snag on U. S. Loan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Earl of Halifax said today he was "not too certain" that the British-American financial talks here would be concluded satisfactorily.

Asserting he did not want to appear unduly pessimistic, the British ambassador conceded difficulties, have kept arising in the six weeks' long conferences.

Merger Unsound To Forrestal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (INS)—Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal told Congress today that the proposed Army-Navy merger plan is "unsound."

He recommended instead that War, Navy, and State Department authorities be linked under a national security council.

Q—My son was killed in action. He had named me as beneficiary for his government insurance, which I understand will be paid in monthly installments. I am not dependent to the extent of needing the payments, but I have a younger son who is a medical student and who could use the money to pay the cost of his tuition for the next three years. Could I receive the insurance in a lump sum for this purpose? D. M., Cambridge.

A—No. The National Service Life Insurance benefits are paid on a monthly basis only, regardless of the financial circumstances of the beneficiary.

Q—My husband is an officer and I receive a Class E Allotment from him. It is now sent directly to me, but it would be more convenient if it went directly to a bank. How do I go about making this change? E. B., Waban.

A—You cannot make this change yourself; it must be done by the officer. It would be necessary to cancel your allotment and set up a new account payable to the bank, deposited to your credit.

Q—Regarding a soldier in the service for almost three years, who will be 33 years old next month, will the Army hold him for 90 days when he applies for discharge? E. M. L., Fall River.

A—The policy is to discharge men in that category as quickly as possible. There may be some delay if the man is overseas or in an essential position, but there is no regulation which requires that a man obtaining discharge on this basis wait a period of 90 days if it is possible to discharge him sooner.

Q—My son is overseas. I receive family allowance from him of $50 each month. He said I would receive $25 more this month as he was sending me some extra money, but my check is still for $50. F. M., Fall River.

A—Money your son sends you would not be included in your family allowance check. If your son is sending a personal transfer of part of his pay it will be sent to you by the Finance Officer, U. S. Army, either San Francisco or New York, according to your son's Army postoffice. It should be received within six weeks after the soldier authorized payment.

Q—My husband is in the Pacific with the Army, and I receive an allotment of $100. We have two children. I need some dental work, and would like to know where I might apply to have it done without charge. R. G. D., Boston.

A—See Red Cross.

Q—Does a serviceman who asks for dependency release lose his mustering out pay? S. E., Milford.

A—No.

This Is My Story ★ ★ By Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

(Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Strictly Prohibited)

At the start of the 27-day Battle of Corregidor we had in the neighborhood of 11,000 men, opposed to a force of about 250,000 whose forward elements were a little less than two miles to the north of us, on Bataan, and six miles to the south of us, at Cavite.

Corregidor is a sloping, pollywag-shaped rock covering less than two square miles and is a little over half a mile wide at its widest point.

At the start it was armed with two modern 12-inch rifles; about a dozen 12-inch mortars, a few 10-inch disappearing guns (which could fire only out to sea); some 8-inch disappearing guns (also unable to be turned either toward Bataan or Cavite); several 155mm. guns similarly handicapped; four batteries of mobile 155mm. guns; several small batteries of 3-inch guns able only to protect our mine fields, and 48 field guns of 75 mm. calibre which were strung along the beaches. Of the 48 guns, 46 were knocked out by the time the Japs finally began their landings.

About 2000 men and women managed to get out of Bataan on the night of April 8-9 in barges and boats. Among these were 300 survivors of the Thirty-First Infantry—American boys; a number of Philippine Army men, some Navy personnel from around Mariveles, three or four survivors of the great Twenty-Sixth Cavalry, and the nurses. The main bulk of the last-minute arrivals were non-combatant.

A majority of the combat troops who made their way to the Rock from Bataan were in such terrible physical condition that they were incapable of even light work. They were immediately hospitalized, and doctors who attended them told me they had never seen men in such emaciated condition.

Those in ostensibly fair shape were sent at once to the beaches, though there was some malaria even among these, and much dysentery. Hospitalized men also were sent to the beaches as soon as they responded to rest and food, but many were not able to rise from the cots on which they threw themselves the night they arrived. They were among the 1000 to 1500 wounded men captured in the Malinta tunnel hospital when the Rock fell.

The American soldiers of the 31st Infantry were assigned to the beach positions manned by the Fourth Marines. Our 1500 Marines, commanded by Col. Sam Howard, had come down to the Philippines from Shanghai when things began to look bad in August, 1941. Their first stationing at Olongapo, on Subic bay, but before that area succumbed MacArthur moved them back to Corregidor.

That is how we lined up at the start, on April 10, 1942. But in the first days of the Battle of Corregidor my thoughts were still filled with Bataan. Its loss rankled and depressed me. A thousand times during those early days of the fight for the Rock I turned over in my mind the series of blows which had brought about the humiliating defeat on Luzon.

The bombers I had asked for days before, to serve as a running guard for the food and fuel ships down south, reached Mindanao on April 9 and raided Davao and Nichols Field, near Manila, the next day.

There were only a dozen of them, led by Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce. Only three or four of them, minus fighter protection, of course, raided Nichols. The planes returned to Mindanao after the raids, tanked up and returned to Australia, where they reported good bombing results. "We gave them Hell," we heard the San Francisco radio quote Gen. Royce.

We hoped they had, and wished many times after that, that they would return. But they never came back.

Mr. Roosevelt's message to me, in the last hours of Bataan, had been sent primarily to MacArthur, with a notation that he should forward it to me at Corregidor if he concurred. As I have explained, our Corregidor radio station picked up the message from the White House as it was sent to Australia.

I replied to the President, but hearing nothing from MacArthur I messaged him as follows:

"The President's message appears to leave to me the decisions which I must ultimately make unless anti-aircraft ammunition in the near future and food in the more distant future are received. If I am incorrect in this assumption I hope you will so advise me. The fall of Bataan was a severe blow, but it was inevitable sooner or later in view of the effectiveness of the enemy blockade. With men in full health and vigor we could have held the enemy as we have previously.

"I succeeded in withdrawing about 2000 military personnel and am now determined to hold my present position with God's help

THIS IS MY STORY

(Fourteenth of a series by Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright which gives hitherto unrevealed glimpses of the most humiliating defeat ever suffered by the United States. Today the Hero of Bataan and Corregidor tells of the beginning of the Battle of Corregidor, by which time the Japs outnumbered our forces nearly 25 to 1.)

until a major diversion by you in some other area reduces the pressure on us here. Although my morale and that of my troops is still high in spite of adversity, a word of cheer and encouragement from you would be welcomed by all. Sincerely,"

MacArthur replied with one of his inspiring messages. Regarding the delay in forwarding Mr. Roosevelt's message, MacArthur said, "I am sorry." In respect to our beleaguered position on The Rock, he said, "Do your best."

On April 16, 1942, a short and punishing week after the fall of Bataan, the enemy landed in force at Iloilo on Panay and massed for an all-out offensive against Mindanao. I dispatched this information to MacArthur and asked that he order the half dozen B-25 bombers stationed at Mindanao to attack the concentration of enemy shipping—sitting like ducks, now, in those and other Philippine waters.

He replied on April 18 that these planes had only a limited supply of gas, but he would do what he could. But once again he was tragically cramped by lack of supply, and the awful feeling of taking it on the chin without being able to give something back in reply enveloped us further.

Gen. George C. Marshall sent an encouraging message on April 18, a day of tough and accurate shelling on Corregidor:

"The continuing demonstration that you and the members of your command are giving to the world of courage and devotion to duty is worthy of the finest traditions of American and Filipino soldiers. We are immeasurably proud of every man serving in the fortifications of Manila Bay. Please convey the special commendations and gratitude of the War Department to the nurses on Corregidor whose service is an inspiration to all of us."

VINDICATION FOR PATTON

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER has submitted to the War Department his second monthly report as American military governor in Germany.

Although it was not designed especially to do so, the document makes a most important contribution regarding the so-called "Patton Incident" in Bavaria.

Gen. Patton was summarily detached from his Third Army command on the alleged grounds that he had not been zealous enough in evicting Nazis from the government and from trades and industries.

Gen. Patton himself denied the accusation, but his defense was hardly heard in the clamor of hostile Communistic propaganda.

Gen. Eisenhower's formal report now shows that there was NO FOUNDATION for the charge.

The supreme commander of our army of occupation in Germany has reported:

1—THAT "DE-NAZIFICATION" IS VIRTUALLY COMPLETED IN THE AMERICAN ZONE.

2—THAT VIRTUALLY ALL NAZIS HAVE BEEN REMOVED FROM PUBLIC POSITIONS AND NAZIS ARE NOW BEING EXPELLED FROM PRIVATE BUSINESS AND THE PROFESSIONS.

3—THAT 3000 NAZIS HAD BEEN OUSTED FROM BANKS BY THE END OF AUGUST AND AS MANY AS 15,000 WOULD FINALLY BE DISCHARGED FROM FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS.

4—THAT A TOTAL OF 66,500 ACTIVE NAZIS HAD BEEN ARRESTED—18,300 OF THEM BEING TAKEN INTO CUSTODY IN AUGUST.

5—THAT IN SPITE OF THE DESPERATE NEED FOR HEALTH OFFICERS, 133 NAZIS HAD BEEN DROPPED IN THIS ONE CATEGORY.

IT IS OBVIOUS from this that there has never been any lag in the "de-Nazification" process; and, since Bavaria comprises a large section of the American zone, it is equally obvious that the "smearing" of Gen. Patton was WHOLLY UNWARRANTED.

Even before Gen. Eisenhower's revealing report was issued, however, the aspersions cast upon Gen. Patton had been refuted in news reports from Europe.

In a despatch from Frankfurt an International News Service correspondent, Mr. Theodore Meltzer, presented equivalent information obtained from a spokesman for the American supreme headquarters.

The informant was Maj. James W. Hill, a former FBI agent, serving as chief of the Special Branch section of the military government.

Maj. Hill reported that, between V-Day and Sept. 15 ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND Nazi party members or sympathizers had been removed from official jobs in the American zone, and 20,000 others had been dropped in private employment.

There were, said the informant, 283 Nazi arrests made in one week ended Sept. 15, and 208 of these arrests occurred IN BAVARIA under GEN. PATTON.

Gen. Patton, in other words, was at the very time of the "smear" campaign doing A MAJOR SHARE of the "de-Nazification" work—doing it so conscientiously and so successfully that Maj. Hill declared:

"ONLY 2.9 PER CENT OF THE OFFICEHOLDERS IN BAVARIA WHO SHOULD HAVE BEEN REMOVED ARE STILL IN OFFICE."

GEN. PATTON, in brief, had actually removed 97.1 per cent of them. Since there was plainly no justification in facts for the vicious propaganda against Gen. Patton, the real reason for his "transfer" is more apparent than ever.

Gen. Patton was "disciplined" not because he was opposed to "de-Nazification"—for plainly he was not—but because he would not help the Reds to COMMUNIZE Bavaria.

"WHEN I became President it was perfectly apparent that the key by which the way could be opened to national progress was constructive economy. Only by the use of that policy could the high rates of taxation, which were retarding our development and prosperity, be diminished, and the enormous burden of our public debt be reduced."

Come, Chloe, and give me sweet kisses
For sweeter sure never girl gave;
But why, in the midst of my blisses,
Do you ask me how many I'd have?
Go number the stars in the heaven,
Count how many sands on the shore;
When so many kisses you've given
I still shall be craving for more.

IT IS practically impossible to get a hotel room in Manhattan at this time. If you do get one, the management won't let you stay more than a few days. Those planning to visit New York should give the idea of renting a trailer a thought. You could park the trailer somewhere over on the Jersey side and be able to get to midtown Manhattan in 15 or 20 minutes.

BRIEFLY: Of those directly serving the public, waitresses receive the most sincere proposals of marriage. Manicurists receive the most propositions. Or so a Manhattan waitress, who was formerly a manicurist, claims. . . . The turtle-neck sweater is coming back. I remember the first football sweater I won was a turtle-neck. It was red with a gray "C" on it. The "C" stood for Commercial High School, Brooklyn. . . . Most Taurus people are born with a song in their hearts. Many great professional singers have been born under this sign. For example, Bing Crosby, Al Jolson, Melba. And Alice Faye.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:
Q—What was the fastest passenger steamboat ever in service on the Hudson river? A—Couldn't say. When I was a kid the fastest on the river was the Mary Powell. Although then a very old boat, it could still beat the new ones. Q—Of all the large hats with which 20th century women have obscured the views of those behind them at theaters, which has been the largest? Anything in your horses and women data on this? A—Our experts say the largest was the Merry Widow hat, with something called the Gainsborough hat in second place. Q—You once quoted a "thanks for the memory" type of poem. Could you repeat it for a U. S. Army sergeant who has been given an unexpected brushoff by one of those hard to get and harder to keep brown-eyed baby blondes?

A—You probably refer to the following lines by William Congreve:
In hours of bliss we oft have met
They could not always last,
And though the present I regret
I'm grateful for the past.

PLEASE NOTE: At a recent sale of thoroughbreds in England, the Gackwar of Barrow paid nearly a half-million dollars for seven yearlings. He is the third richest Indian prince and described as "having the power of life and death over 3,000,000 subjects." In the brave, new world for which our boys have been fighting and dying, is there any place for a ruler who has the power of life and death over 3,000,000 human beings? I don't think so. Why doesn't the British Empire do something about these absolute rulers in India? How silly it is to talk about the world having been made safe for democracy when these Indian princes are still in power. Further, as I said before, why don't the British borrow some money from these fellows who have billions rather than trying to get it from the hard working citizens of the U. S. A. who have already lent so much to foreign countries?

ON TOKYO BAY: "Have just been reading your column on a ship anchored in Tokio Bay," writes a U. S. Navy man. "At the same time my buddy was reading a magazine. The unusual thing about this was that he was holding the magazine upside down. When I first saw him reading that way I thought he was kidding. But he told me he always read that way. And to prove he wasn't kidding he again held the magazine upside down and rapidly read me an entire short story."

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part is strictly prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—President Truman, setting forth his creed as an American, once said:

"The profit motive of our economic system, I think, is superior to any other system the world has known."

Pres. Truman

Which brings up once again that piece of dramatic regurgitation, "The Rugged Path," perpetrated by Robert Sherwood, the ex-OWI wizard.

This offering, as I saw it opening night, holds the American businessman up to contempt and ridicule.

I say, "as I saw it opening night," because I have just read in the papers that it is to be rewritten before it hits Broadway.

I do not know how much, or what kind of, rewriting is to be done, but I could make a couple of suggestions: Cut out all the action and dialogue, put in a magician and a troupe of acrobats, and have Sherwood sitting on a tub balancing Elmer Davis on the end of his nose.

I don't think there is any possible way the show could be made worse. It is one of those turkeys in which any change—including playing the last scene at the bottom of a manhole—would be an improvement.

But, I do not believe Mr. Sherwood is likely to change the basic theme, because that—and the business of gamering some dough—is why he wrote the thing in the first place.

As I see it, the whole business is a not too-well disguised attack on President Truman's creed as an American.

If I'd had any doubt about this at the beginning—which I didn't—I certainly wouldn't have now. Since I made the original attack, assorted radicals have come rushing to the play's defense.

When you have those people against you, you know you must be right!

ON THE OTHER HAND, I have received a great many letters agreeing with my stand, one of the most trenchant being from Elizabeth A. Nichols of Pavvuctet, R. I., who doesn't say whether she is a Miss or a Mrs. Writes Miss— or Mrs.—Nichols:

"I have just finished reading your review of Sherwood's latest. When did you start being so polite? I have some choice adjectives I would be glad to lend you the next time you review a play of that type; but I doubt if they ever will be a next time. Two such atrocities could hardly occur in one century."

"I had the misfortune to see the play on its world premiere in Providence. After three scenes I was so nauseated I didn't even have the strength to get up and leave the theater."

"Spencer Tracy wasn't being coy when he took his bows. He just hung his head because he was ashamed to look at the audience. So it seemed to me."

"I read that Katharine Hepburn hadn't missed a single performance. I saw her opening night here. (Ed. Note: She was also at the opening in Washington.) May I suggest you interview her for your column. It isn't every day you get a chance to write about a woman who can stand so much."

SEN. WARREN G. MAGNUSON of Washington was a lieutenant commander in the Navy before he came to the Senate. He was a right nautical-looking fellow in those days, they tell me.

Recently, however, he has been suffering acutely with arthritis. He was bent all sideways when he ran into Adm. Nimitz. The latter surveyed him from head to foot, then said:

"You'd better get back in the Navy, young fellow. The Senate's killing you!"

FROM THE instructive volume "Our American Government":

QUESTION: Why is the building in which Congress meets spelled "Capitol" while the Federal District is the "Capitol?"

ANSWER: "Capitol" is from the Latin adjective capitula derived from caput, meaning head. From this it came to denote chief, or principal; and hence the principal town, "Capitol" meant originally the Temple of Jupiter, on the Mons Capitolinus in Rome. This Roman capitol was the center of the official religion of the state and in it the Senate and other legislative bodies held their meetings.

Thus "capitol" meant a specific edifice.

NEVER MIND writing in that you know this already. I didn't—and I guess I can use some space once in a while to educate myself. Can't I?

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—I'm glad Alice Faye is returning to musicals after a fling in drammer in "Fallen Angel." A fling is all right, but Alice belongs in those great big Technicolor numbers with tight fitting dresses and big picture hats.

So I love the title of Miriam Young's "Mother Wore Tight" which 20th has snagged with Alice in mind.

Just the other day Lamarr Trotti rushed into Zanuck's office, excited about the book, only to have the boss say: "Yes, we've just closed the deal for it after option held by another company ran out." It's about a chorus girl in the 1900's who marries a leading man and they start having one little trower after the other. Sort of the Bing Crosby of the turn of the century.

Alice Faye

resigned he has all the money he needs and is just tired of work.

I HAVE ALWAYS felt that Lt. Richard Ney was one of the most talented young actors on the screen. He was getting a good start at M-G-M when he went into the Navy. Now he has obtained his release and is asking for his release from Metro. He says they have been very kind and understanding. "It's simply psychological," he told me. "I feel I should be at a studio where my wife isn't an important star. I want to win my spurs in my own way." Well, I believe Richard will because before he ever married Grace Garrison he was on the stage and doing very well.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: After three, or is it four tries, you'd think Artie Shaw would be used to getting married. But he was so nervous he lit a cigaret as he and Ava Gardner walked up in front of Judge Mosk and the judge had to remind him to put it out. Artie was immediately all apologies to both Hizzoner and his bride—but after all that experience! Later the bridal couple showed up at the Mocambo and were enjoying "Here Comes the Bride" when suddenly the place went mad. What the Shaws didn't realize was that Admiral Halsey was walking in with Capt. Gene Markey and Myrna Loy right behind them!

NOT MANY PEOPLE know Nora Eddington Flynn has been very sick, so sick her parents have been terribly worried about her health. I talked to her stepmother, who is keeping the baby while Nora is in Palm Springs to recuperate. "She hasn't been well since she had the baby," said her mother, "and we are very worried." I talked to Nora long-distance and she said she has no intention of getting a divorce, even though she has moved into a new home where she will live with her baby. She's such a sweet girl and everyone who has met her likes her very much.

CLAIRE TREVOR, who was so good being bad in "Murder My Sweet" and "Johnny Angel," gets a chance to be good in Pat O'Brien's next, "The Crack Up." Yep, it's a psychological murder mystery. (Every time my typewriter gets to "Psychological Murder Mystery" I stop, and it writes out the words automatically. That's how many of these things there are coming up.) This time Claire plays a newspaper reporter. So it goes without saying that naturally she is a good girl. All newspaper reporters are good girls.

MET BRIGHT, cute Kaye Swift, author of the book, "Who Could Ask for Anything More," and composer of the song "Can't We Be Friends" at the Pat Smart cocktail party. She told me she and Faye Hubbard, her cowboy husband, are divorcing. It was really surprising because her book is all about her happiness with her spouse. RKO has bought the book and Harriet Parsons is producing it under the title of "Come Share My Love," with Myrna Loy. Think the flame still lingers for the cowboy, but he doesn't like Hollywood and she does. They met at the World's Fair, where he was in the rodeo and she was a director of light entertainment.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Peggy Ryan has set Jan 5 as the date of her marriage to Howard Rothberg III, Detroit oil tycoon. Lorna Turner and Turhan Bey at this writing are not of a marriage mind; what happens tomorrow I won't predict. Frances Langford and Don Hall spent the week-end at Catalina. He is out of the Army with an honorable discharge and both deny any intention of separating; Grad Sears landed in Albuquerque to find the plane he was traveling in was on fire and there were dozens of ambulances waiting at the field. Fortunately, every one got out safely and didn't need that kind of ride. Grad looks simply wonderful again. Ella Johnson, an M-G-M office girl, is a pretty Bob Orr says she should be in movies.

STEFFI DUNE and Dennis O'Keefe celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary at Connie Moore's cocktail party. She asked Virginia Fields, who introduced them, as a special surprise. Steffi's present to Dennis was a tie pin with the words, "Tied for Five Years." Cute idea. Sol Wurtzel, who was on the 20th and old Fox lots for nearly 30 years, is back again making pictures; Herbert Marshall has flown east to Chicago on a bond tour and not to New York to see a charmer, as it was whispered, and the good looking young man drumming with Mrs. Marshall is her brother, Lt. Joseph Russell. Distributed by International News Service

Martin Block of the persuasive funds is said to have $75,000 of his own gold in the new hit, "The Red Mill." . . . Ted Lyons, formerly their star pitcher, can become the next manager of the Chicago White Sox if he's in the mood. . . . "Chet" Brien—Marilyn Miller's widower—is on the verge of tossing a huge suit at Warner Brothers unless they make script changes in the film version of her life.

CHOO CHOO JOHNSON and her Brazilian beau, Jose Lacerda, will make it a Pan-American union in December. Her solitary would put your eye out at ten paces. . . . Several of the East Side spots have installed armed (but plain clothes) guards because of an epidemic of midtown stickups. . . . Fred Perry, the tennis star, and Mrs. Raoul Walla, ex-wife of the Hollywood director, are inseparables. . . . Victor Mature is long-distancing Pat Coogan, who's recuperating at St. Mary's Hospital.

ONE OF the war's top generals will give the bride away when Gypsy Markoff marries AS's Floyd King at Atlantic City on Dec. 21. . . . There's talk along the Stern that Wallace Beery, weary of mediocre Hollywood vehicles, is scanning Broadway playscripts. . . . Jerry Zerbe, the cafe society delineator, is out of the Navy and back in the Colony-El Morocco groove. . . . Edgar Bergen's off-nourished fiancée, Frances Westcott, is due in Gotham as soon as she finishes her first professional singing engagement at an Arizona hotel. Joan Crawford is ailing. Head cold.

POLICE ARE putting the finger on midtown parking lots, blaming a good part of the nightly traffic tie-ups on their trick of taking in cars, then reparking them on the streets as soon as the owners are out of sight. . . . Maestro Don Bestor is secretly the bridegroom of model Beulah Pimbell. . . . Gen Mark Clark has a terrific business deal pending if and when he decides to shed his uniform. An oil turn has been after him since the end of the war. . . . The Louis Primas are going their separate ways. . . . Red Skelton, out of the army now, is asking astonishing sums for airways appearances. . . . Tommy Lyman says that through the years the most popular torch song (with lasses as well as lads) has been: "Melancholy Baby."

PEGGY FRENCH is recuperating from a serious illness after three blood transfusions. . . . Is Mary Kirk Brown planning a new trek to the altar? . . . Connie Boswell is sensational at the new Club London. . . . Her version of "Stormy Weather" is better than all the others. . . . Cigarette prices are slated for a slight boost.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—Van Johnson and Sonja Henie didn't need a floor show. . . . Universal has a peculiar problem because of the strike. They were rushing through production of "Tangerine" and "Because of Him" for Maria Montez and Deanna Durbin are expectant mothers. The strike halted production of these pictures. . . . Joan Harrison has signed a contract at RKO to produce a mystery story in which George Raft will do the lead. . . . David Selznick switched directors on "Duel in the Sun" and William Dieterle has the assignment. . . . Arthur Hornblow and Trudy Glasford are a twosome. . . . Dorothy Lamour has taken an option on a stage musical, "Rhythm for Everybody" and would like to do it on Broadway if she can get permission from her studio when she is ready.

Sonja Henie

RICHAUD GREENE, when he returns from England, will play in "Berkeley Square." . . . Betty Grable and Harry James are going in for ranching. They have purchased a small ranch in the valley and intend to buy a large ranch in Wyoming. . . . Noel Coward has written a couple of songs for Marlene Dietrich to sing in "Bedelia," the English picture she is supposed to make. The songs are "What Did I Do Last Night?" and "One Kiss Leads To Another." . . . Ann Southern and husband Robert Sterling were on their way to the radio station when a fan rushed up to Sterling and asked: "How does it feel to be out of the Army?"

George Sanderson will play a leading role in "The Homestretch." . . . Frank Borzage, who is directing "Concerto," is trying to purchase Myron Brinig's new novel, "You and I." . . . Before Frank Sinatra left for New York, his baseball team, "The Soowners," played "The Jockeys" and Maxie Rosenbloom was the umpire. Before the game, Director George Sidney invited Sinatra to his house for dinner, and kept him there as long as possible. Sinatra arrived at the ball park just in time to rush to the lockers and scramble into his suit. The Voice plays second base. As soon as Sinatra got onto the field a great howl went up and more howls and more howls. What Sinatra didn't know was that Director Sidney had painted across the back of his shirt, "How Many Times Have You Seen Anchors Aweigh?"

"Well—at last there's Gloria. I wonder which one is the blind date she picked for me."

Boston After Dark

WASHINGTON GRAPEVINE: (Exclusive)—President Truman will take a rest from affairs of state on the waters of the Caribbean. . . . He and his party will sail Oct. 31, but the cruise will be brief—probably of five days duration only. . . . Like the members of Congress, the White House mail these days is at a peak-bulk.

THE CITIZENRY is bombarding officialdom with pleas for discharge of men in the armed forces. . . . Senator Walsh, the senior Senator from Massachusetts, is authority for the statement that his mail is running higher now than ever in his career. . . . The Senator is getting an average of 400 letters a day from constituents who have sons or husbands (or daughters) in the services.

THE MOST EXPENSIVE piece of furniture in the White House is the huge desk used for meetings of the Cabinet. . . . Curiously, the desk was a gift to President Roosevelt from a man who was to feel the effect of a Presidential brush-off—Jesse Jones of Houston, Texas. . . . Most of the faces seen across the desk under the present administration are new ones, but the desk—although it was the personal property of the late FDR—is unchanged.

ONE TRADITION of the Presidential cabinet, incidentally, has not been changed even under the New Deal. . . . That is the practice of retiring cabinet members, followed for years, of taking with them the chairs they have occupied in cabinet meetings. . . . Secretary Stimson took his chair with him on his recent retirement, and all outgoing Roosevelt appointees did the same.

UNCLE SAM takes a financial beating because of this tradition, but no member of Congress is likely to introduce a bill demanding an economical change in the practice. . . . The cabinet members' chairs cost about $300 each. . . . As the retiring member leaves his official post, taking his chair with him, he pays $97 for the purchase of the piece of furniture. . . . Why? . . . Don't ask us, that's all.

EXCLUSIVE: Another dog track is definitely in the promotional stage, but one wonders how—except by legislation that seems impossible to achieve at this writing—the promoters will be able to establish another dog track in the state. . . . Under the regulations, no rival dog track can be set up within 50 miles of an existing track.

WATCH ALSO for an attempt to introduce the Cuban game of jai-alai in Boston this winter. . . . The American rights to the Cuban game, which is a fast gambling contest, are owned by a Bostonian named Berenson (not Sam). . . . This Bostonian is the key to the successful operation of the game in Florida. . . . Legislation is needed also to make jai-alai possible in the Bay State, but the game may be played in the winter and consequently might not be regarded as opposition to the dog tracks by the tracks' friends in both houses, who are numerous.

THE ABLE POLITICAL editorialist of a morning newspaper has called attention to a Communist vs. American rivalry in the current school committee fight. . . . Otis Archer Hood, a seventh generation Yankee who has been a Communist candidate for various offices through the year, is on the ballot. . . . Michael James Ward, the school committee member from Brighton, has carried the political fall against the Reds (Native and imported brand) for seven years. . . . Mr.

Ward is running for re-election to the school board.

CANDIDATE HOOD may be expected to get a unanimous Communist vote, and it is a "lock," (as the race-trackers call a cinch) that Mr. Ward will get none of them. . . . In fact, it is quite probable that Mr. Ward's known aversion to American Communism (and Soviet Communism, too, for that matter) may win him a vote or two. . . . To assay the strength of the Communist and fellow-traveler strength in Boston, it should be necessary only to tally the Hood votes in the school committee fight. . . . Totalling Mr. Ward's votes and comparing them with the other leading totals should be an indicator of how much and how vehement is the anti-Communist sentiment in the electorate.

MORTON DOWNEY is the artist, night club operators say, who brings out more "unsteady" customers than any of his rivals. . . . "Unsteady" in this case does not refer to the Downey fans' condition. . . . It means simply that many patrons attend a night club only when the great Morton is playing.

A NEW DEFINITION of a turt counselor, known regularly as a tout, is making these rounds, viz: A tout is a person who wears loud clothes, carries a pair of field glasses and—should drop dead!

The Barry hit the trawler, cutting it in two, at 10:39 a. m. yesterday, but identification of the victims was not learned until today.

The Medford was at the southern edge of Georges Bank, winding up a fishing trip which began Oct. 13, when she left Fish Pier
here. She was due back Wednesday.

Search of the accident area today was launched at dawn by the 165-foot Coast Guard air-sea rescue boat, the Nike, and the giant Navy ship PBY flying boat from Quonset Point.

Capt. Erickson of the Barry reported he made a complete search of the waters before turning the transport back to New York. The surviving crew members of the trawler and the one body were picked up by motorboats launched by the transport.

The Medford was owned by the Irving Tinsler Co. of Boston.
Built at the Bath Iron Works
in 1928, she was christened the Holy Cross and was valued at $200,000. During the war she served the Navy as a minesweeper
under the name of Kite.

Aboard the Boston vessel were two cousins, Leo Munroe, 43, of Union st., Watertown, the mate, reported missing, and Andrew

Revere GI Tells in Record

About Jap Prison Brutality

The epic of the three-year trial by battle-fury, brutality and slavery of Cpl. Samuel N. Rubin-ovitz, of Revere, veteran of Bataan and survivor of Japanese inhumanity in a prison camp on Formosa is continuing in the Daily Record.

Told in a gripping, factual style
by an ace writer of the Daily Record staff—Paul Whelton—the story depicts the reaction of Rubinovitz, the light-heavyweight boxing champion of the Pacific and Asiatic fleets, to the terror and the glory of Bataan and Corregidor.

Whelton has graphically described how Rubinovitz, enraged
by brutish cruelty, strangled a Japanese guard deep in the bowels of a mine on Formosa.

He told how Rubinovitz, weak from privation and his life-and-death struggle, scraped desperately at the mine wall to dig a niche in which the body of the guard could be safely hidden.

The first hand story of the young soldier's ordeal was told to Whelton in San Francisco, where he flew Saturday with Samuel's
father, Moses "Happy" Rubinovitz, Record-American circulation executive.

"TEN LITTLE INDIANS"

NOW AT THE COPLEY THEATRE

While history shows that the Indians were definitely the first "scalp specialists" in America, it also shows that science has come a long way since those pioneer days. The modern "scalp specialists" have no flair for the Wild West —in fact they are expert in the art of bringing soothing, restful, relief to scalps that itch and burn because of local irritation (such as dandruff).

Thomas experts have treated more than a quarter-million persons during the past 20 years (and never lost a scalp!)
Such popularity is deserved... deserved because Thomas quickly removes those aggravating dandruff scales and leaves your scalp feeling fresh, clean, and healthy. Come in today for free consultation and advice and see for yourself exactly how this reliable, proved method works. You'll enjoy Thomas treatment!

Ask Reds Free Providence Man

State Department officials in Washington announced today the American embassy in Moscow is striving to obtain Soviet permission for return to the United States of Jan Czechel, 25, Palmer St., Providence.

Thus far there is no evidence Russia will issue an exit permit, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Czechel came under Russian protection some time ago, arriving in Moscow with German bullet wound.

He was born in Providence of Polish parents who took him and his sisters, Maria, 20, and Anna, 16, back to Poland. He said the attacking Germans took away his parents and sisters, and forced him to work as a waiter.

Czechel, who has an American passport, said he had $300 in the U. S. embassy in Moscow for some time, but that it was returned to his brother, Michael, when he failed to claim it. The latter is now serving in the United States Army.

Woman Bookie Fined $100

Refusing to "make a present to her bag man waiting in the corridor," Municipal Judge Carr today imposed a $100 fine on Mrs. Wanda M. Sarette, 44, Massachusetts ave., Roxbury, when she admitted a finding of guilty to charges of registering bets and being concerned with promotion of a lottery.

"I'll fine her $100 and let the bag man pay," Judge Carr told her counsel, who sought to have the charges filed.

Special Officer Edward F. Blake testified Mrs. Sarette was a "pickup agent" and was paid $10 a week to collect number pool and horse race bets.

BURNING OF GROVE YEAR AGO TODAY

Blame for Holocaust Never Has Been Determined

By LESTER ALLEN
A year ago tonight the Coconut Grove burned, and the lives of 498 persons were snuffed out in the most disastrous fire in all of Boston's history.

A year ago tonight, by the fitful gleams of a burning night club from which the moans of victims wailed above the clamor of rescuers and the clangor of fire bells, public officials vowed that everyone sharing responsibility for the disaster would be punished.

Hair-Splitting and Evasion
The brave undertaking petered out in quibbling and hair-splitting evasions and disavowals, legalistic maneuvers and exposures of official stupidity. But it has not yet been clearly shown that this or that man officially charged with a duty failed by official inertia to protect the lives of the 498 people who died there.

The public became aware of dark undercurrents of politically-acquired obligations, of something more sinister than the mere faulty operation of a night club, of a strong effort of official apologists explaining away the plain fact that 498 people had gone to a place of entertainment believing themselves secure and had paid for it with their lives. What the sinister forces were and who was concerned in the astounding record of official irresponsibility, may never be known or proven.

The irregularities in the remodeling of the night club, which immediately preceded the fire, were proven to be known to inspection officials and one inspection service discovered before the night club was reopened that certain work had been done without a permit. All of the conditions that existed when fire raged through the club were known by persons who had official duties concerned with the safety of the public.

Mr. Reilly, you were Fire Commissioner—what is your answer to the charge of "official stupidity" and "official irresponsibility" contained in this article?

Wasp

in midstream and backed into the berth at Commonwealth Pier, where a throng of relatives and friends of those aboard waited outside on Northern ave., hopeful of catching a glimpse of loved ones.

The wide stern of the flat-top was backed to within a short distance of the street outside and the throngs of those aboard waited deep, shouting greetings and exchanging pleasantries with those aboard.

It was disclosed the Wasp was aiding in the attack on Yokosuka
when her crew received word from Adm. Halsey that hostilities had ended, but that after that her pilots and gunners had shot down two Jap planes in "friendly fashion."

One was a kamikaze which the Wasp's gunners blew up after a pilot had shot one wing after the Jap went into his suicide dive.

The second victim was shot down by Wasp pilots on patrol
Aug. 15, when the enemy pilot started to lunge toward the flat-top.

Aboard the Earhart, which was skippered by Lt. Com. Nathaniel M. Goodhue, Adams st., Millon, were two of the Wasp's
officers, who had flown ahead from Panama to prepare for her arrival. They were Lt. Com.
Frederick W. Morris, combat intelligence officer, and Com. James
A. Thomas, air officer.

About two-thirds of the Wasp's complement of 1000 started to stream ashore soon after noon, on liberty until 8 a. m. In comic briefing before going ashore they had been advised that "on last reports the natives are friendly."

First to come down the gangplank, however, were naval personnel on emergency leaves and furloughs and then officers detached for discharge from the service. These were followed by some 800 enlisted men, slated for discharge, who were taken by bus to the Fargo Building, and convalescents from two hospitals in Hawaii. None of them were battle casualties.

Among those waiting outside
Commonwealth Pier were Mrs.
Frank O'Malley, East st., Ipswich, mother of Ens. Frank J. O'Malley, and his three sisters, Mrs. James Farley, Ipswich, Mrs. Bruce McLean, Danvers, and Mrs. Donald E. Currier, Wenham.

Another was Sandra, 7-year-old daughter of Lt. Earl Erickson, Shepherd st., Cambridge, who has not seen her father for three years.

The docking at Commonwealth
Pier was journey's end for the Wasp in her wartime role as the "old Stinger" of the fleet, for she will be decommissioned after this week's celebration.

From then on she will serve as

Smart Set Doughnut Romance

By BETTY ALDEN

"HAVE A doughnut, soldier." Few poets or song writers have thought of this opening line for a romantic lyric but that's about how it happened in the case of Patricia

Bayne, popular Boston society girl. Pat ran Red Cross recreation centers at several American bases abroad during the war, among them the air field at Aldermaston, England, where one of the handsome officers crowding around her for coffee and doughnuts after a flight one day was Maj. Nicholas P. Harvey of Winona, Miss.

Patricia Bayne

It was practically love at first doughnut and the couple's romance will culminate in a brilliant society wedding next Saturday in St. Paul's Church, Dedham. Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, one of the well known commanding generals of the American Air Force, will be an usher. A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bayne of Baskerville Hill, Westwood.

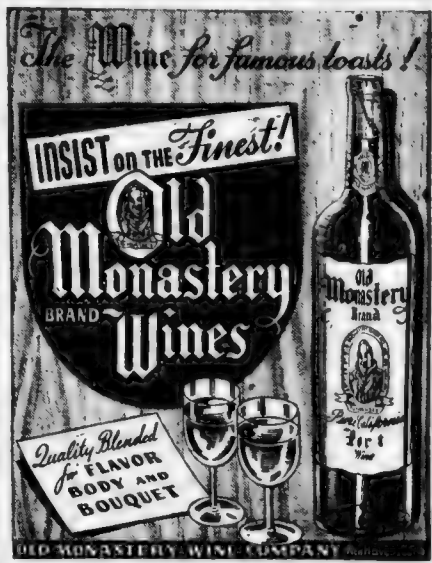

Major Harvey and his bride will live in Bryn Mawr, Pa., where Pat was lucky enough to find an apartment during a visit last week. She will be a neighbor of her close friend and bridesmaid, Mrs. R. Gilpin Ervin, the former Catherine Rose of Hingham.

Reception Planned For Hospital Head

Plans were being completed today for a formal reception Friday to Col. Elton L. Titus, commanding officer of the Waltham Regional Hospital, who is scheduled for Army retirement Dec. 31. The reception is to be held at the hospital, with leading military officers attending.

Boston American, Oct. 22—31

BOSTON SOCIETY has representatives in practically all the arts but to our knowledge the only male opera star who is a true Boston bloodline is Arthur Gerry Boardman, star of the Boston Grand Opera Co., at the Opera House.

Born in this city the son of George Gerry Boardman, he has been known professionally for many years as Arthur Gerry. He is a ninth direct descendant of Peregrine White, first white child born in New England aboard the Mayflower. His grandfather, Alonzo Warren Boardman, served in the Massachusetts State Legislature and the Boston Board of Health and his grandmother was well known in this city as society editor for many years of the old Boston Transcript.

His first public singing experience was as a choir boy at the Church of Our Saviour and St. Paul's in Brookline. Since then he has made his reputation in Wagnerian roles at home and in Europe and South America. He sang the leading role in "Tannhauser" at the Opera House last evening and will appear Friday as Tristan.

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard of Newton Center have been galloping over the brilliantly hued New Hampshire hills while vacationing this past week at Steele Hill Farm in the White Mountains.

The entire fleet is in as far as the former Nancy Wilbur of Winchester is concerned. When the battleship New Mexico arrived in Boston one of the officers aboard was her bridegroom of a little over a year, Lt. (jg) Walter H. Lilly 2d, of Washington, D. C. They are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilbur of Winchester.

Boston's loss will be Long Island's gain when attractive Mrs. Jansen Noyes, Jg. (Dorothy O'Day) and her husband make their future home in Roslyn, L. I. At present they are relaxing at Fishers Island during Jan's terminal leave from the Navy.

Mrs. Richard Hobart of Cambridge and Mr. E. Everett Clark will meet with a socially important group at Pan-American Society headquarters on Newbury st., tomorrow morning, to form a ticket committee for "Four Pan-American Wednesdays," a series of evening lectures to highlight the winter social and educational season.

Daily Treatment at Home for Oily Hair

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WHEN SOME DAY women will be as wise about their hair as they are about their teeth . . . when they will cleanse, stimulate and nourish the scalp as faithfully as they do their skin . . . when they make regular visits to the hair expert as regularly as they do to the couturier . . . well, when they do this . . . there will be no need of a beauty editor's constant harping on the same theme . . . that nothing is more exciting than brilliant, colorful hair . . . glowing with the sheen of perfect health.

So until women do this we'll go on saying that the most commonplace personality can be transformed by this one feature . . . the hair. Fresh, clean, well-groomed hair is eternally appealing . . . regardless of its color. Your hair is not a useless appendage . . . but a living, breathing part of you . . . and deserves the same care you give your skin and teeth.

To care for your own hair intelligently, you must know its type . . . just as you know your skin needs, and your personal problems. Do you suffer from oily hair? Does your hair become oily at the scalp three days to a week after a shampoo? Do you have excessively dry, brittle ends? There is an affinity between scalp and complexion . . . and very often oily hair presages an oily skin.

Do you find a scale or dandruff condition on the scalp? Is the color of your hair fading? Are your temple hairs very thin? All these may be the signs of an excessively oily condition. The natural oils overflow at the scalp . . . and run over the surface . . . instead of normally flowing through the hair shaft to lubricate the hair right down to the ends. And, undoubtedly, you find it difficult to manage.

DAILY TREATMENTS AT HOME

Well, we have a daily treatment for such oily hair . . . a treatment sponsored by one of the finest sister frons of hair specialists in the country . . . whose specialized preparations are personally checked for purity and accuracy. And, for many years . . . in various parts of the world . . . these wise scalp specialists have been consistently teaching women how to care for their own hair at home.

Cleanse your hair with their special hair preparation daily . . . (one it with a preparation specifically designed for oily hair . . . and stimulate it with a long-bristled brush. Do not shampoo the hair too often. Such a routine should pay handsome dividends . . . and then, you, too, can lift your head high . . . confidently knowing that your crowning glory is really what the name implies.

For the name of these two products which constitute a daily treatment for oily hair, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBERTY 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LIKE FINE mahogany furniture, hair must be kept free from dust and dirt if you expect it to shine and glow. Yet if you wash your hair too frequently, you may dry it out and make it harsh, brittle and dull in tone . . . or you may make it excessively oily. And, oily hair gives no girl any claim to the crowning glory attribute . . . nor can she sparkle and radiate as brilliantly as lovely Jinx Falkenberg . . . whose head of hair is one of her precious prizes.

Wants Companionship, But Wife Likes to Go Out

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—When I was still a bachelor, I always hoped I'd marry a girl who would be satisfied with housekeeping. I didn't want a marriage where the wife goes to work, comes home a few minutes before her husband, and mixes up something out of a can. So, when we got married I persuaded my bride to give up her job.

We have a nice little house in the suburbs, which is well furnished, and I provide her sufficient allowance for good food and running expenses. She really is a perfect housekeeper and serves excellent meals. But what gets me is that she insists on going to her bridge club once a week. I'm not jealous; it's a woman's club, and during the war they knitted sweaters and sewed for the Red Cross.

She and her mother get season tickets for the symphony concerts, but I don't care for that sort of music. She's always gadding around somewhere. It seems to me, I married for companionship, but do I get it? Why can't she stay at home with me?

B. H.
My advice, since you ask it, is that you give your wife sometimes, especially to the symphony concerts. No one is too old to learn to appreciate good music. Go to a musical appreciation class, and if you learn something of the art of music your life will be richer.

Women who nag and grow old, homely and uninteresting are those who have no outside interests. They stick to the old griefs and complaints and "enjoy poor health" because they have no way of keeping in touch with the world. You wouldn't admire your wife half as much if she lived a narrow life.

Perky Derby Hats Arrive

By BETTINA BEDWELL

FASHION has its derby, which is a big event in winter millinery styles. Perky derby hats, made of fur, are a new high in fashion, and they are sponsored by that leading impresario of new millinery, Sally Victor. The fur derby, worn with your good black cloth coat or your winter suit, is about the best kind of choice, provided you have the looks for it.

Miss Dulin has sketched Sally Victor's leopard derby, which was worn slanted over the forehead, and which has a lacy black veil tied over the face, with a big bow at the back. There are leopard gloves to match the hat, gloves that have spreading cuffs.

The set gives most any costume a luxurious tone.

Cookie Time

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

REMEMBER what fun it was to dip into grandma's big brown cookie jar and come up with a handful of delicious, fragrant morsels, with their aroma of pungent spices, tangy fruits and golden honey?

Grandma knew that everyone, young and old, liked to find those tempting cookies in the pantry, and she knew that honey cookies were doubly delicious. Today we know that honey cookies are doubly nutritious, too. So let's keep the old American tradition of the well-stocked cookie jar alive with the help of these culinary successes designed to go easy on your hard-to-get baking supplies.

HONEY OATMEAL COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup honey 1 egg
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. soda 1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups oatmeal
4 tbsp. warm milk
1/2 cup chopped peanuts
1 cup raisins

Cream shortening. Add the honey and blend. Stir in the egg. Sift together dry ingredients and add oatmeal. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk shortening and honey mixture. Stir in nuts and raisins. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased pan or baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

While we are on the subject of cookies, here's a timely tip on storage. Like good wines, honey cookies improve with age. To save time and conserve heat, bake a large amount at a time and store them in a stone crock or an air-tight covered container.

EGGLESS HONEY COOKIES

1/2 cup honey 1/2 cup shortening
2 cups flour 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves 1 tsp. soda

Heat honey and shortening carefully for a minute or two. When cool add dry ingredients that have been sifted together several times. Roll out 1/4 inch thickness and cut with a doughnut cutter. Bake on a greased cookie sheet for 12 to 15 minutes in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). When cold frost with powdered sugar frosting.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup honey
1 small egg
1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and honey until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt twice. Add flour mixture to shortening mixture; add vanilla and blend all well. Fold in chocolate chips and nuts. Chill, and drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 deg. F. for 12 minutes.

HONEY BARS

1 cup honey
3 eggs, well beaten
1 tsp. baking powder
1 1/2 cups flour
1 cup chopped nuts
1 lb. chopped dates
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix honey and well beaten eggs together. Add baking powder and flour sifted together, chopped nuts, dates, and vanilla. Bake in a long, flat pan. Mixture should be 1/4 inch deep, and 1/2 inch after baking. Cut into strips 1/2 inch wide and 3 inches long. Before serving, roll in powdered sugar. These are fine for the holidays since they can be made ahead of time and will improve in flavor with storage.

PANEL MAGIC—A sequin studded paisley scarf, by Glenflex, magically transforms a dark basic dress into a P. M. glamor gown . . . and it is simple to achieve. Form a colorful panel by pulling one end of the scarf through a choker and letting the scarf fall softly to the hemline . . . in glorified apron smartness. Spread the border at the neckline in a flattering ruff for the up-to-the-chin new effect . . . and cinch it at the waist with your dress belt. Nimble fingers . . . nifty dress.—R. M.

Boys Bring Gifts To Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: A girl friend of ours is having a sweet sixteen party, for boys and girls from about 15 to 17. Is it proper for every boy to bring a present to the hostess? Or should a girl and the boy who is coming with her give a present together?—TWO GIRLS.

To a birthday party, especially to one so important as the sweet sixteen party, every guest should bring an individual present to the hostess. Every boy should bring his own present (whether he is invited by the hostess or by the girl with whom he is coming), but this may be a simple, inexpensive one, perhaps just a merry gadget from the five-and-ten, if this is more suitable to his pocketbook. Or he may bring her a box of candy, a corsage, one or two dainty handkerchiefs perhaps with her first name on them, or a book, or a small bottle of perfume.

Football Favoritism: Finn Forgiveness: Double Talk

By AUSTEN LAKE

THE ARMY WILL DENY IT! So will the Navy! Yet the concentration of top-crust football talent in certain preferred swineskin colleges during wartime can hardly have been accidental.

It was clearly apparent from the beginning of war mobilization that some colleges were being favored and some were not. Early in the war I officiated at a major New England college—not one in the Greater Boston area. After taking a terrific licking, his third in a row from heavily "loaded" rivals, the coach told me sadly, "We assumed when war came that the Army and Navy would distribute its football stars without favoritism, so we didn't ask any favors. We know now it isn't so. Next year we are going to bring pressure on the right people to see that we get our share."

Apparently it worked! For that college suddenly blossomed forth with its quota of shaggy buffalos and human kangaroos. Its lickings stopped abruptly. Whether it was the result of breathing suggestions in sympathetic service ears, I can only guess. It's a matter between their conscience, their pastor and their former college affiliations whether certain gold-braid and be-starred officers, or their staffs, who had jurisdiction over allocating big-name grid athletes to institutions for war courses, showed both preferential and prejudicial treatment. I guess yes!

It was common gossip in collegiate circles which may largely explain the strange preponderance of one-sided football scores around the nation of which last Saturday was a startling example. Let's hear from the service departments who had charge of dealing out the nation's athletic talent whether that custom is going to continued into the postwar period.

A Kind Word For Finland

THE INTERNATIONAL OLYMPIC committees are coming to life. They are studying sites for the 1948 games. Finland was the designee for the mournful year of 1940 but fate forced her into the strange company of Axis bellfollows.

Somewhat it is hard to reconcile little Finland as an American enemy. It didn't belong on the side where an unhappy circumstance forced her with little or no choice. She was an unwilling victim of power politics.

I realize that this is a futile suggestion. But the Finns have been one of America's few European friends and I recall writing back in '40 that "the adipose, superinflated Olympic classics needed Finland's simplicities to restore them to their original amateur honesty." From a Boston viewpoint there were other reasons for cheering the award.

For the Finns hereabouts are an amiable, unobtrusive people consumed with three passions—Finlandia, hard toil and marathon shuffling. They live frugal, well-ordered lives in rural settlements, move patiently in wukaday grooves, pay their debts on the dot and always stay on the divide of the law. In our mixed American citizenry they bear the same social relations as do the ants among the insects—diligent, decent and self-disciplined. No militant racial or nationalistic howls arise from their settlements. They have no martial orders nor societies. They foment no political animosities.

If the Olympic daddies are sincere in their theory that the game is an instrument toward international unity, let them reaffirm Finland as the 1948 site as an "enemy without animosity."

Harvard Guard and Ex-College Chum

IT HAPPENED IN THE TWILIT fourth period at the Harvard Stadium last Saturday. Hah-vud's back was to the bricks, the ball on her own two-yard line, fourth down, the score 18 to 7 against. And, instead of punting out, Charley Roche elected a gambin' man's forward pass.

But the burly New London line swarmed in and smothered him with a fence of arms and bodies so that Charley, in desperation, just blinged the ball blindly toward the playing field, where Frank Lebart, a guard, was idling. Suddenly the ball came soaring his way and Frank, a converted half-back, reacted instinctively.

Forgetting he was a guard and therefore ineligible to receive a pass, he cuddled the windbag in his arms and scooted away for a 20-yard gallop. As he tumbled a New London player stormed up excitedly and yelled, "That man's a guard. He can't do that." Being one of the game officials, the writer leaned over and asked Lebart what position he played. For in the hurly burly of flying bodies and frequent substitutions, it was impossible to tell the linemen apart.

Frank grinned and said, "Pretty good catch for a guard wasn't it?" It was! Then I asked the New London player how he diagnosed the situation so instantly. "Aw," he said, "Frank and I were pals at Purdue together last year. He's the only man on the Harvard team I know." Incidentally, if the Boston pro Yanks are looking for a top-rank, all-round ball-fetter and passer, they'd do well to dicker with the New London Sub Base for big "Dubs" Jones, former Tulane back. He's a human bazooka!

Paddock Lingo

SCHOLARS OF AMERICAN ETYMOLOGY will be interested in this linguistic smudge, heard at Rockingham from a tout. "I just crack down on a hot dog, a maiden from the leaky roots. The office comes from a wise punter who knows the typsy. So I go for the bundle, figuring a boat-race. We got a smart monkey up, whose just off the ground and the rest are cooks, herders and double bugs.

"My hide's in the four-hole and supposed to play iceman. Th' bag in the past is a glancer but his boy, being on the head-in, has him under wraps. We get the break at the gate with my booter breezing to the chute—on the Bill Daley hike.

"But I see we're getting the twist pronto for sure enough the favorite begins to lug plenty of daylight at the oval and my dog is squeezed on the rail. At the sixteen he's lookin' for a lantern and I blow the lettuce."

Translation? Simple track-chai for a sucker who thought he was in on a fixed race and found himself hooked for his bank balance?

Sub Base's Dub Jones Likely to Stop H. C.

By HERB FINNEGAN

Remember the date: Nov. 4. Remember the locale: Fitton Field, Worcester. Remember the combatants: U. S. Sub Base and Holy Cross. Remember the prediction: Jones 12, Holy Cross 0. Yes, Holy Cross is undefeated and it has Koslowski in its backfield. And

Holy Cross probably will sweep over Colgate next week and enter the Sub Base game still the big shot around this area.

So the world will say: Coach Ox Da Grosa with his undefeated team and his adjustments and his compensations will tear the U. S. Sub Base to pieces.

To that: Phooey. Sub Base licked H. C. last year, one of the two service teams (7-0) to turn the trick (PT 13, HIC 12), and is definitely gunning for the Crusaders. And Sub Base did that without Mr. Dub Jones from Tulane.

Mr. Dub Jones is NOT one of the Jones boys; he's the entire family. Everybody in the North squawked when "Mr. Z." picked him on his 1944 team; Tulane hadn't appeared here.

But Mr. Z. apparently knew his business and when Harvard's coach Dick Harlow said: "Jones runs as well without interference as he does with it," he wasn't clowning. Harlow had seen him against Mike Holovak's PT Boaters.

Jones hop-skipped-and-jumped against Harvard but mostly he skipped—over the corrugated lines.

"Never seed anything like it," said Mike Costello who has been Harvard's press box custodian since Johnny Maulbetsch of Michigan defeated Mahan's team. "Never seed Welch do as much," added Mike, recalling the 28-0 licking Purdue handed Arnie Horween's team in the late '20's.

No, few have seen anything like Jones' running around these parts for years: 1—Harvard hasn't been playing teams of big league caliber and 2—Al Marsters and Pest Welch were in their prime in the '20's.

"We're just getting organized," said Sub Base Coach Ed Cherry after the Harvard game. "We were licked by Cornell when I had been with the squad only three days. I didn't know half the players. But I know them now, and they are improving. We should be at our best against Holy Cross."

So beware H.C.! You were knocked off last year by Sub Base, and Sub Base likes nothing more than to knock off collegians. They'll probably be indifferent next Sunday against Quincy Maeris, but they'll be up and shooting at you one week from Sunday. Watch out!

If Jones doesn't lick H.C. single-handed, Vi Moravec will come to his rescue. Moravec, former Lehigh player, wears the Purple Heart . . . BU plays Squantum at Nickerson Field next week (admission free). RC plays Earl Brown's Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, L. I., and Harvard is host to Coast Guard. Harvard should win for a change.

Bruins Have Class Club For Blackhawks Game

By JACK CONWAY

ART ROSS MADE a perfect summary of the 1945-1946 Bruins, who open their league season against the Chicago Blackhawks at the Garden on Wednesday night, when he declared they are "a team with speed, fire power, poise, experience and balance."

It is one of the grandest hockey clubs the Bruins have had, and while Ross refuses at this time to predict his team will win the Stanley Cup it is very likely to do so.

Bobby Bauer

Hockey is the first major sport to muster most of its pre-war strength. The Bruins are particularly fortunate in this respect as they have back the power that made them one of the most feared teams in hockey.

When the Bruins come out on the Garden ice Wednesday night, the crowd will cheer frantically when it sees old favorites like Schmidt, Bauer, Reardon, Guidolin, Dumart and Gallingier. Then there will be Dit Clapper, Bill Cowley, Pat Egan and the other veterans who carried on during the war with the aid of what youngsters Ross could muster.

It is expected that Francis Brimsek will later be back in the Bruins' lineup. Brimsek is in the Coast Guard, but it is believed that this famous goalie will receive his discharge by the first of the year.

The Blackhawks also will place a strong team on the ice Wednesday night. This means that the opening game of the season in Boston will be packed with thrills.

The entire receipts of the game, due to the generosity of Art Ross, will be donated to the Disabled Veterans' Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser. Lt. Col. Walter A. Brown, president of the Garden, has placed the North Station sports palace rent free.

Bartolo and Firpo

SAL BARTEOLO of East Boston, N. B. A. world's featherweight

champion, will return to the local fight wars when he clashes with Pedro Firpo of Camden, N. J., at the Garden on Friday night. In his last bout here, Bartolo outscored Maxie Shapiro.

Firpo first gained fame when he won from Lulu Constantino. He later defeated Larry Bolvin and Jackson in Boston. Allie Stolz, an experienced boxer, recently won a close decision over Firpo.

Firpo possesses sufficient boxing ability to force Bartolo to extend himself to the limit to win. Sal realizes he cannot take chances with any opponents since the night he barely edged out Gus Mell of Montreal. In a tussle with Mell, Bartolo won in impressive style.

Navy Best of 'Rock

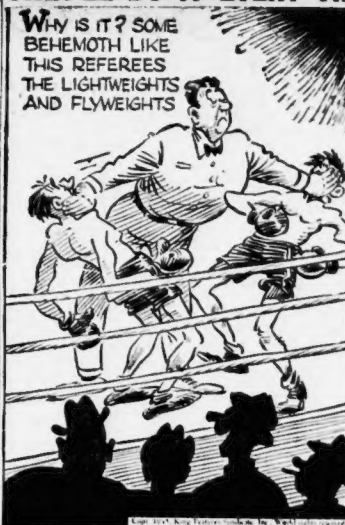

NAVY ALWAYS turns in his best turf performances at Rockingham Park. He was at his best when he won the $5000 added Springsteel Handicap with Float Me second, Boy Soldier third and Spangled Game fourth.

Navy turned in some fine performances at Narragansett Park during the autumn meeting, but it is at Rockingham that this thoroughbred goes to town.

Mrs. Lottie Wolf's horses, shipped to Rockingham Park from Detroit, have become acclimated. Saturday Mrs. Wolf won with Mono Miller, who paid $7.20, and Goobar Lad, who returned $24.20. In previous races Goobar Lad was in trouble due to the fact he is a rail runner and had to pick his spots to get over to the part of the track where he best likes to run.

The 26,000 crowd and a mutual pool of $1,324,364 proved the popularity of racing and also of Lou Smith's Rockingham Park. Ideal weather also helped to make the day a big success.

Julian Extols Kos's Blocking

Holy Cross, unrepresented at six previous football luncheons as the Kenmore, sent a delegation there today, most prominent of whom were backfield Coach Alvin "Doggy" Julian and Paul Comerford, president of the IIC club of Boston.

"Kosowski," said Julian, "is a truly great back. In our four games he's done all our kicking off, all our punting, all our quick-kicking, 60 per cent of our punting, 90 per cent of our passing and some of the pass receiving."

"In addition," Julian added with emphasis, "he's done our best blocking. Few seem to realize his greatness in this department. When he throws his 202 pounds against an opponent that opponent realizes he's been hit. Also he's a Garde-A defensively. He saved us TD's in both Brown and Yale games."

Other speakers were Dick Harlow, Lew Manly, Russell Curley, Al McCoy, John Harmon of the Citizens' Committee of Boston, and Fella Gintoff, coach of BC High's undefeated eleven.

MacPhail Held for Jury In Row Over Phone Call

BEL AIR, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees waived preliminary hearing today on two assault charges and one of disorderly conduct and was ordered bound over to the November grand jury by Trial Magistrate Stanley S. Spencer.

MacPhail, whose arrest on the three warrants followed an Oct. 5 disturbance in the Bel Air telephone exchange over his inability to place a long distance call from his showplace stock farm near Bel Air, furnished the same bond of $550 pending grand jury action. A nationwide four-hour work stoppage of telephone employees occurred that afternoon.

The baseball official's case was designated by the magistrate for Grand Jury consideration on Nov. 12.

Warrants were served on MacPhail at "Glenagass" on Oct. 8 after they were sworn out by Mrs. Anna Townner, chief operator of the telephone exchange; Thomas Dwyer, manager of the telephone office; and Police Chief Raymond Fulker. Mrs. Townner and Dwyer charged assault and battery while Fulker accused MacPhail of disorderly conduct. He furnished bail of $250 on each assault charge, and $50 on the third accusation.

Crack Bruins Team Due Here Tonight

By BILL GRIMES

The 22d edition of the Boston Bruins, potentially the strongest Manager Art Ross has ever despatched in quest of the Stanley Cup, is due to arrive at the North Station from Montreal at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

After a two-week training session at Quebec City, the Bruins broke camp yesterday and moved into Montreal. And, with the possible exception of Pat Egan, the Rossmen are ready for a strenuous 50-game campaign, which promises to be a hectic battle from start to finish. The Bruins open the 1945-46 season against the Chicago Blackhawks Wednesday night at the Boston Garden.

As has been his custom for three years, Manager Art Ross will donate the entire proceeds of the curtain opener to the Boston American-Record and Advertiser Disabled War Veterans' Hospitalization Fund.

There isn't any question but that the Bruins will open before a capacity crowd. For over a week, the demand for tickets has been heavy and it is safe to predict that more than $20,000 will be added to the fund.

Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart, the Kitchener Kids, are back after an absence of three and a half years with the Canadian Army. Although they were Stanley Cup finalists in the spring of 1943, the Bruins never recovered from the loss of the Kitchener Kids, who received their "call ups" early in February 1942.

While they were overseas, the Kitchener Kids played some hockey but they do not expect to hit their prewar stride before the holidays roll around. However, they will be the crowd's darlings Wednesday and the ovation they'll receive will be second to none ever tendered pro athletes.

The Bruins will work out tomorrow at the Garden, under the watchful eyes of Manager Art Ross, who arrived home this afternoon.

Adams Confident As Wings Eye Bruins

DETROIT, Oct. 22 (AP)—Manager Jack Adams predicts a "pretty good" season for his Detroit Red Wings who open their National Hockey League campaign here against Boston Sunday.

"We'll have a pretty young team and without being overly optimistic, I think it will be a pretty good one," said the dean of NHL managers who steered the Wings into last season's Stanley Cup finals against Toronto.

Of 80 hopefuls who showed up at Detroit's first drill, 22 are left.

$100 LOAN
IF YOU CANPAY BACK $7.29 A MONTH
Up to 18 months to repay

WE'VE just extended from 12 to 18 months the time in which most Households may be repaid. More time means smaller monthly payments. So it's more convenient for you to repay less per month, just the small payments Households
now afford.All you do
All you do to apply for a Household loan of $100, $200 or more is to tell us a little about your problem and choose a payment plan. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no signatures of friends or other outsiders. You may borrow quickly, simply and privately—on your salary, car or furniture. To save time, phone us first, then call for the money.Smaller monthly payments

Stricken Soldier Taken Off Transport

A Coast Guard air-sea rescue plane rests on the water 150 miles off Salem (above) standing by the Army transport Thaddeus Kosciuszko to remove an Air Corps sergeant suffering from a throat ailment. The soldier (at right) is being lowered from the plane at the Salem Air Base for transfer to an Army hospital for an operation. The troopship is due here from Europe tomorrow.
